DRY LAW ISSUE FACES DEMOCRATS

TODAY

The Shouting Is Over.
No Issues, Only Offices.
The Wringer Problem.
No Mortgage Moratorium.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The shouting and voting, nominating and indorsing, parading and singing, demonstrating, real and pretended, are over until 1936. As for the Republicans, it is Hoover and Curtis. Nobody else had the faintest chance at the head or tail of the ticket.

A week from next Monday Democrats begin their nominating and demonstrating, and later the fight will be on.

Next January nobody will remember much about it.

HENRY FORD, who says convention issues did not amount to much, is right. There were really not any issues. There was a prohibition fog, and much careful ignoring in speeches of everything that men discuss in private—depression, crime, racketeering.

Luckily, as Mr. Ford says:

"Conventions can't give the people anything and they can't take anything away from the people."

Everything depends on what the people themselves are, not on the particular individuals chosen to hold office.

THERE IS a problem in the coming election that Republicans perhaps have not sufficiently considered. It is the problem created by those that "have been to the cleaners," or, as others express it, that have been "put through the wringer."

The writer talked to one fresh out of the wringer, just back from the cleaners, as thoroughly wrung out and dry cleaned as any man in the whole depression.

He is justice of the peace, has been mayor and is leading citizen of a small town 12 miles southwest of Chicago. He said:

"I have just turned back my last 17 lots to the original owners, after paying all I had left on them. There are thousands of people around here who are going to lose their homes, to say nothing of their investments. If the government had worried half as much about us as it has worried about Europe, we should be much better off.

"They gave Germany and other Europeans a moratorium on their debts of billions. Why don't they give us a moratorium on our small mortgages?"

It does no good to tell such a man, fresh from the cleaners, that for Europe to go bankrupt would be desperately dangerous for the United States.

He is not interested in Europe, but in the 17 lots, last of his property, just taken from him, and in banks that failed, "taking my savings of a life time."

Six or eight million men out of work are not the only Americans that should make Republicans thoughtful.

The army sent to the cleaners presents a problem.

CONGRATULATIONS to the publisher of Christian Science Monitor, on the devotion of news agents that sell his paper in Chicago. Tri-state Legion's Reunion On Aug. 6

40 POST DRUM CORPS, BANDS WILL COMPETE

National and State Officers to be Invited.

The third annual Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia reunion of the American Legion, to which National Commander Henry W. Stevens Jr. of Warsaw, N. C., will be invited, will be held in East Liverpool on Saturday, August 6, Commander Arthur A. Wells of East Liverpool post No. 4, announced today.

Stevens is now en route to Europe to extend a personal invitation to the Prince of Wales to attend the national convention in Portland, Oregon, in September, but will return to the United States next month.

Approximately 40 drum and bugue corps and bands from eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and the Panhandle section of West Virginia are expected to take part in the reunion which will be featured by a parade at 8:15 p. m. ending at Patterson field where the drum and bugle corps contests will be staged under electric lights.

Cash Prizes Offered.

Not less than $800 in cash prizes will be distributed to the winning bands and drum and bugle corps. According to tentative plans the band contest will take place in Broadway at 4 p. m., leaving the night open for the drum and bugle corps event, although the bands will remain here to take part in the parade.

The event is expected to attract thousands of visitors and will be as large if not larger than the 1931 celebration. Thirty-three drum and bugle corps and nine bands participated in last year's event.

In addition to Commander Stevens, invitations will be extended to the Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia Legion commanders. David S. Ingalls of Cleveland, Republican nominee for governor, has already expressed his intentions to attend, while an invitation will also be sent to Governor George White, Ingalls' Democratic opponent, at the November election. The visitors will be guests of honor at a dinner to be given at 6:30 p. m. but there will be no banquet in connection with this year's celebration.

Meeting Monday Night

Headquarters for the reunion will be maintained in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Little building. The Retail Merchants' division of the chamber will co-operate with the legionnaires in the celebration.

Plans for the event will be outlined at Monday night's meeting in the Legion home in Dresden avenue, when Commander Wells is expected to announce his committee appointments. The first meeting of the general reunion committee will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Little building, Tuesday night.

THREE PRISONERS PARDONED.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., June 18. — Thomas Aventino of Canton, Louis McFerren of Mt. Vernon and Carmelia Pierre of Toledo, all serving out fines in workhouses, for prohibition law violations, were pardoned by Governor White.

Rogers Flees

CLAREMORE, Okla., June 18.—Well I was the first Democrat white child to escape from the Republicans. Just flew in here from Chicago in four hours. Saw all of 'em leaving Chicago. Alice is coming back for the Democrats. Said this one was misrepresented and wasn't a convention.

Pat Hurley went away grinning like a possum. The real wets all went away mad. The real drys went away sorer than the wets. The Democrats seem more pleased with it than the Republicans.

But they must not crow too quick. Wait till they get there and try to frame up a prohibition plank that will please all, and they will begin to realize what these birds were up against. So they are liable to come out of there with one that reads more different ways than the Republicans' did.

Yours,

Will Rogers

Billygoat Fails To Change Into Man

By The Associated Press.

WERNIGERODE, Saxony, Germany, June 18.—A scrawny billygoat, smeared with blood and honey and the scrapings of church bells, but still a billygoat, bore mute evidence today that modern psychic research had won round one against the witches on "The Brocken," Germany's magic mountain.

At an eerie ceremony in the cold and clammy fogs on top of the mountain last night, the billygoat failed to change into a man, although modern British and German psychic researchers faithfully carried out the old witches' formula supposed to achieve that result.

Round two will take place tonight, however, in the same setting made famous in Gothe's "Faust," and in German witchcraft lore.

ABOLISH FOUR TEACHING JOBS IN WELLSVILLE

Wellsville Proposes Pay for Eight Months.

The teaching staff of the Wellsville public schools will be reduced by four as a result of action taken Friday night at a meeting of the board of education. Two of the changes affect a special class which will be discontinued, while the post of music supervisor will be abolished, it was announced by Superintendent S. E. Daw.

While no reductions were made in salaries, a 10 per cent cut having been made last year, contracts probably will be for an eight-month term and teachers will be asked to donate their services during the ninth month, Daw said. This would make a total cut of 11½ per cent.

Teachers will be appointed as soon as the financial settlement is made by the county auditor, the school head said.

Taechers' pay checks for the last half of April were mailed today, while the salaries for May are unpaid.

U. S. AIDS RAID CHICAGO CAFE

Government "Mops Up" Capone's First Throne.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 18.— White gangland's machine gunners barked a signal that the war was on for succession to Al Capone's underworld throne, the government early today "mopped up" Colosimo's cafe where Capone began his rise to power.

It was at Colosimo's—just a block away from Capone's Lexington hotel headquarters on the near South Side—that "Big Jim" Colosimo was slain by assissin's bullets and Johnny Torrio—the master—and Al Capone—the pupil—seized control of the gangland domain.

Underworld grapevines rumbled Colosimo was shot by Capone on orders of Torrio but when police arrested both, the lips of gangland would not open. To this day the slaying of Colosimo remains an unsolved mystery.

Nine prohibition agents under personal direction of Chief Enforcement Agent Al E. Aman swept into the cafe this morning as 150 guests, many in evening clothes, were watching entertainers. Liquor bottles hurriedly were slid across the floor and there was a dash for exits, but none of the guests were held. A quantity of liquor was confiscated. Agents said they had obtained "buys" previously.

SENATE BEATS CASH BONUS BY 62 TO 18 VOTE

Proposal Rejected as Veterans Besiege Capitol.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 18. — The soldiers' bonus will not be paid this summer.

Definitely, crushingly, the senate late last night defeated the bill by which thousands of veterans of the World war had hoped to draw immediately almost two and a half billions in cash from the federal treasury.

The tremendous margin of 62 to 18 was rolled up against the measure despite an amazing day-long siege which nearly ten thousand clamorous ex-service men laid down upon America's capitol. It was evident that the decision turned principally on the issue of safeguarding the nation's financial stability.

Senator after senator gave as explanation for his adverse vote this reason, divorced entirely from the merits of giving aid to the veterans.

Block Consideration.

The fateful roll call was counted out under galleries packed solid with former soldiers. Hundreds more pressed up to the senate doors, and from the outside were plainly audible the songs, cheers and boos of thousands who swarmed over the broad plaza, blocking all traffic but causing no disorder and voicing no threats.

To make double sure that the bill would not come up again this session, its opponents resorted to strategy which is as rare in the United States senate as it is effective: Tabling a motion to reconsider passage. This extinguished the last hope of the sponsors to bring the question up later.

To the sea of upturned faces outside the capitol a spokesman for the veterans announced defeat.

"We have received a temporary setback," he shouted. "The senate has refused to pass the bill.'

Boos Greet Vote.

A half-stunned silence and then a tremendous boo.

"But we will stay here until the bonus is paid," he roared again, and cheers reverberated against the stately walls of the high-domed building. Quickly then the blare of a band started them singing a chorus of "America." Then leaders pleaded with the men to return, not home, but to their billets for the night, leaving further campaign plans for the morrow.

Full realization of the extent of their defeat, apparently had not sunk in as the men yielded to persuasion and trudged off, a few at a time. Additional thousands who remained in the several camps went to bed believing the final vote was still to come.

MOTORIST LOSES $39 IN HOLD-UP

Laird McMillan of La Croft Robbed Of Pocketbook While Returning Home Early Today.

Three masked and armed bandits, after driving their automobile in front of a machine operated by Laird McMillan of LaCroft, today at 12:15 a. m. in the Lincoln highway, robbed him of his pocketbook containing $39 and escaped.

McMillan, who reported the hold-up to police here, said he was en route to his home, when the bandits drove their car directly in front of him, and to avoid a crash he was forced to pull to one side of the road. Two of the bandits, McMillan said, pressed guns to his side and ordered him to hand over his pocketbook.

He was unable to get description of the men or the license number of their car.

Police Captain Mason Conley and Patrolman Elwyn Shenkel investigated and reported the holdup to Sheriff W. J. Barlow.

WAYNE COUNTY WIFE SLAYER FACES CHAIR

Jury at Millersburg Votes Death Penalty.

MEEKER GUILTY

Battered Body Found In Creek Last May 9.

By The Associated Press.

MILLERSBURG, O., June 18—The first death chair verdict for murder ever imposed by a Holmes county jury was returned last night against Herbert Meeker, Wayne county farmer, for the slaying of his young wife, Gertrude.

Meeker was found guilty after the jury deliberated seven hours. His wife's nude and battered body was found in creek near here, May 9.

The trial of Meeker was the first on a first degree murder charge in Holmes county, in 52 years. The verdict, failing to include a recommendation of mercy, makes death in the electric chair a mandatory sentence. Common Pleas Judge R. B. Putnam will pronounce the sentence Tuesday.

Will Seek New Trial

Meeker heard the jury's decision with no sign of emotion though he had steadfastly said he was innocent of the charge. His counsel will seek a new trial.

The convicted man claimed Mrs. Meeker was slain by Harold Young, 19, a relative, who killed himself when officers went to his home to arest him. Young struck the woman on the head with a tire pump while the three were riding in an automobile, Meeker testfied. Young had intended the blow for Meeker, the latter said.

Prosecutor Elmo Estill termed Meeker's explanation that Young's motive was a desire to be alone with the woman, "a colossal lie."

Auto Accident Plot Charged.

The state contended Meeker participated in the killing in the hope of collecting insurance on his wife's life, and that the two men attempted to make it appear the woman was killed in an automobile accident. The car in which the three rode the night of the killing was found intentionally wrecked near the body.

Meeker admitted he helped in the attempt to conceal the crime, but said a confession of participating in the killing, which was presented as evidence by the state, was obtained under duress.

The slaying, Prosecutor Estill told the jury, was "one of the most brutal, premeditated and cold-blooded in the annals of crime."

A petition was filed Friday in common pleas court at Lisbon by Attorney W. H. Vodrey for the state of Ohio and State Superintendent of Banks Ira J. Fulton, and in charge of the liquidation of the George D. Harter bank at Canton, to foreclose on a mortgage given December 23, 1927, by the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles Pottery company.

The original mortgage, taken by the Harter bank, was for $350,000 secured on a loan on the East Liverpool property of the pottery company, including equipment. The petition shows that $245,000 of this loan is unpaid. The mortgage was assumed by the American Chinaware corporation when it merged with the K. T. & K. firm.

Hugh Wells, trustee in bankruptcy for the American Chinaware corporation is party defendant in the suit. Wells, a Cleveland attorney, has waived a summons,

Unable to Swim But Saves Drowning Son

By The Associated Press.

Like so many who lived on moored barges, she cannot swim. Yet when her three-year-old son Erich tumbled overboard yesterday, she ran quickly to the side of the barge and leaped overboard.

She could not swim, but air, trapped in her clothing, as she dropped feet first into the water, buoyed her Her screams brought a rescue boat, which arrived as she lay in the water, face under and slowly sinking.

It appeared as though her heroism had been in vain, but when they pulled her, unconscious, into the boat, they found locked in her arms, her little boy.

Several million dollars damage was done, officials estimated, in the blast and fire that inflicted one of Montreal's major disasters. A $5,000,000 Canadian Vickers drydock, in which the British vessel was undergoing repairs when it blew up, was partly wrecked. Officials believe a hot rivet may have come in contact with gas accumulating over oil inside the vessel.

SHOUSE SEES PLANK CALLING REPEAL VOTE

Party Leader Raps Stand Taken by Republicans.

CHICAGO WAITS

Resolutions Committee Will Begin Work Thursday.

BY W. B. RAGSDALE,
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 18.—Prohibition, the word that spelled roaring dispute for the Republicans now straggling homeward, was first on the tongues today of convention-bent Democrats.

Candidates, economic issues, even organization, took second place in the discussion of newly arrived Democratic leaders to the question: what will the Democrats do about prohibition?

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, believed the party would adopt a wet plank favoring submission of prohibition to the people to determine whether they want the 18th amendment repealed.

G. O. P. Plank Rapped

He called the Republican plank impossible, and said the Democrats would be specific and brief. He expected that it would denounce conditions under prohibition in its preamble.

The tentative picked members of the Democratic resolutions committee will assemble next Thursday to begin work on that party's platform, hoping that they can saw out the rough outlines of most of the planks by the time the convention assembles. Open hearings probably will be held on some disputed issues.

While the resolutions committee may have a ready-made plank for the convention when it meets, Shouse does not believe the prohibition question will be disposed of without a floor fight such as provided the high spot for the newly adjourned Republican meeting.

Two Headquarters Open.

Headquarters of two of the Democratic presidential contenders are set up, but that of the leading candidate, Franklin D. Roosevelt, has not yet been opened. The first on the scene were representatives of John N. Garner, the speaker of the house. Quarters for Governor Murray of Oklahoma were opened today.

Garner, Roosevelt, Murray, Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, Gov. Byrd of Virginia, fighting "Jim" Reed of Missouri, will be the names that look down upon the public from the colored posters in the Congress hotel. Most of them will be here in person for the tussle and mid-week will find them on the ground, digging in for the battle.

Yield This Year Considerably Smaller Than Last Year Because of Weather Damage.

By The Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, June 18. — The southwest today was harvesting a wheat crop, considerably smaller than last year, due largely to weather damage.

Carloads of the new crop began to arrive at the markets, bringing from 25 to 30 cents a bushel at the rural centers. In Kansas City, the first arrivals found future prices around the lowest levels of the season, 15 cents under the late May quotations.

Oklahoma's prospective yield has been set at 32,764,000 bushels, less than half of last year's 70-million bushel crop and in Kansas the yield is expected to be less than one-third of the 1931 bumper crop of more than 239,000,000 bushels.

Gambler's Throw

SYNOPSIS: Leaving the flying field where he is a pilot, late at night, Jerry Calhoun finds that his car is out of gas. He accepts a lift from Nancy Wentworth, musical comedy star. On the way to a gas station her car is blocked by a sedan parked across the road. Five men, armed with automatics and a machine gun, surround their car. Jerry reaches for the door, but a flashlight is turned on them and he and Nancy are ordered out. The men seize Nancy and disappear into the darkness. Jerry leaps forward, then falls unconscious. He wakes up in a hospital next day, where he is told that a bullet had caused a minor but painful head wound. Stevens, a detective from the Treasury department, asks Jerry what he can remember about the hold-up and tells him that Nancy has been kidnaped.

Chapter 2

A KIDNAPING EPIDEMIC

"I DON'T mind saying, Calhoun, that at first we thought you were one of the gorillas," Stevens said.

"But we found a letter or two in your pocket and your car was up the road a couple of miles with its tank dry. It wasn't much trouble to check up your car record, find out where you were flying and to locate the helper who was working with you last night. So that left you whiter'n snow.

"Now," he continued, "hitching his chair nearer the cot, "can't you remember what kind of a car those babies were riding in?"

"A sedan. That's all I know. Too dark," Jerry said.

"See any of the men close enough to get a description?"

"No. Wish I had."

"So do I," agreed the detective, his voice betraying his disappointment. He reached into his pocket, carefully selected one of a dozen cigars, broke it in two and, stowing it in his mouth, began to chew it with obvious contentment.

"Seen any morning papers?" he asked mildly.

"No! Just came to a few minutes before you came in."

"Just thought you might get a kick out of knowing what it was you muscled your way into. Listen." He shifted his cud. "I just told you that someone kidnaped Miss Wentworth. Well, that wasn't all that happened. Just after dinner time a sedan crowded Theodore P. Hamilton's car to the curb on East Fifty-sixth street, slugged his chauffeur and got away with the old boy just as they did with the actress."

"You don't mean the rich Hamilton, president of the United States Textile corporation?" demanded Jerry, incredulous.

"The same," nodded the other, looking anxiously at the floor, under the cot and into the spotless corners of the room. Then, with a hardly suppressed grimace, he continued. "And that isn't all, either. Frederick Mallory—you know, the millionaire stockbroker and sportsman—was playing golf yesterday afternoon out near Pelham, in Westchester county. On the seventeenth hole he was, near the edge of the road. Couple of men in a big sedan stopped, watched him putt and then, seeing that nobody but the caddy was in sight, grabbed him and rushed him into the car.

"So that's three prominent people kidnaped within ten hours yesterday. There'll be an awful uproar about it."

"That's three prominent people kidnaped within ten hours," the detective said.

Jerry absorbed the news slowly. His head felt heavy and dull.

"But why should they kidnap Nancy Wentworth?" he demanded. "The two millionaires will probably be stuck for good big ransom. But she isn't a millionaire."

"No, but she's a darned attractive girl," Stevens pointed out significantly. Jerry clenched his fists instinctively. "Besides," the placid voice added, "she's reported to be engaged to Philip Macomber, president of the International Bank and Trust company. He could drop a couple of millions any time and not have to lay up a yacht. So far as that goes, the girl has made plenty of jack the past two years. But it's Macomber they'll try to chisel."

The pilot was silent, again aware of his throbbing head. The idea of Nancy's being engaged to a middle-aged millionaire was repugnant.

He had seen Macomber's picture in the newspapers. Why, with all the eligible young men there were in the world, Nancy had chosen that beetling-jawed, cadaverous banker was more than he could fathom. And the thought that she was in the hands of kidnapers who may have taken her away because of her beauty was even worse!

The doctor winked meaningly at the detective and twitched his head toward the door.

"Well," announced the detective, "I'll be easing along now. Got a lot of work ahead of me. Wish they'd put someone else on the case. Only reason I'm here at all is that the chief's got a hunch some old friends of mine are mixed up in it."

He waved his hand and was gone. Jerry suddenly felt very tired.

Two days later Jerry Calhoun emerged from the hospital, pale and shaky. There was a grim, set expression on his face which transformed the little laughing wrinkles around his eyes into hard, stern lines which framed, and accentuated, the steely glint of the pupils themselves.

For forty-eight hours he had tormented himself with harassing recollections of the ignominious and futile part he had taken through those brief moments on the roadside. His sober judgment assured him that against five armed men he, single-hnaded, could have done little to alter the sequence of events. Yet the entire episode was, to a soldier and a man of action, unbelievably humiliating. He could not rid himself of the feeling that he had acquitted himself very badly. Even now he could not define a plan which would have prevented the kidnapers from getting away with the girl.

In affairs like this he was a firm believer of the ancient law of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. He knew than without another meeting with those men, the affair would rankle for a longer time than he cared to anticipate. Moreover, the girl was a captive. He could not overlook the horrible possibilities that existed in such a situation.

But what could he do? He realized that the police were stirred into feverish activity and that because of the prominence of the victims the newspapers would harry the officials unmercifully. For some vague reason the government, too, had become interested in the case, as the visit of Stevens had borne witness. It seemed utterly presumptuous that Jerry, alone, could accomplish a thing. It would take unlimited time and money even to join in the hunt. Of time he had sufficient; of money, next to none.

(Copyright, Dial Press)

Jerry finds company and money for the hunt, in the next installment, and the kidnapers send a letter.

"Huddle" Smash Football Drama, Coming to Ceramic

Ramon Novarro attempts a radically different type of role in his his new starring picture, "Huddle," which will start Tuesday at the Ceramic theater.

His portrayal as Tony Amatto, tough Italian mill hand who enters Yale university, gives him an opportunity for some of the most aggressive and virile action of his career. He spent weeks with a coach to learn football technique. In scenes of Varsity games, Navarro plays in a lineup with many famous All-American and noted stars, including Ernie Pinckert, Jess Hibbs, Dale Van Sickel, Don Hill and others.

Tri-State Legion Reunion.

For the third time in as many years, East Liverpool will entertain the reunion of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia members of the American Legion.

East Liverpool post No. 4 has selected Saturday, August 6, as the date for the gala event, when bands and drum corps representing tri-state organizations of World war veterans will march in a parade and compete in contests and drills.

Judging from the popularity of past reunions, 50,000 or more visitors will throng sidewalks to witness a pageant in which the boys who responded to the country's call in 1917-18 will march.

It will be a gala occasion, with national, state and district leaders of a great American organization expected to be among the guests of honor. Two national commanders, O. L. Bodenhamer of El Dorado, Ark., and Ralph T. O'Neil of Topeka, Kas., were speakers at past celebrations, and the new chieftain, Henry Stevens Jr., of Warsaw, N. C., is expected to accept the 1932 invitation.

Honesty of Purpose.

The American public questions the honesty of purpose which caused some of the 209 congressmen voting for the bonus bill to do so in circumstances which they knew prevented enactment of the measure. There is widely held suspicion that many representatives, knowing the bill cannot be made law, voted for it as a bid for veterans' votes in the forthcoming election.

These representatives knew that by the legislative enactment which awarded the bonus to veterans of the World war, payment was not promised until 1945. They knew that the bonus demand can be met at the present time only by issuing fiat money and debasing the currency, or by increasing the public debt—either of which would have a ruinous effect on the remaining confidence of the people in their government's financial stability.

They knew, also, that whatever happened the bonus bill would be stopped in the White House by a presidential veto. Republicans who voted for it, therefore, are guilty of party disloyalty. Unless they honestly believe the bonus should be paid, they are guilty, also, of intellectual compromise, tolerated in order to serve their own selfish ends.

The tactics by which the vote was forced in the house of representatives are not so much a discredit to the powerful lobby which directed them as they are a discredit to the timid legislative body which yielded to them. Minority pressure is as much a part of representative government as flamboyant oratory. The country's sole guarantee that minority pressure will not become the real motivation of all legislative action is the courage of its legislature. Courage, in this instance, was conspicuously absent. It was easier to pass responsibility along to the senate and President Hoover, meanwhile grasping what seemed to be a safe chance to spring over the fence where votes of the veterans abound. Unfortunately, the procedure was disgracefully apparent.

An Important Fight.

The automobile accident death rate is giving way to tremendous opposition thrown against it from many quarters. Enlistment of other commercial interests, in addition to the insurance companies, has given the social drive to decrease avoidable accidents greatly needed strength.

Tire manufacturers are employing the argument of safety to sell their product. Automobile manufacturers are placing more and more emphasis on the safety factor in operation. Insurance companies are employed endlessly in a drive to protect their interests by showing the public the necessity for safety. Brake lining manufacturers, eye lens manufacturers and many others have seen the commercial possibilities in helping people to decrease the accident death rate.

It all amounts, of course, to recognition that accidents are waste—needless destruction of human life and property. Since public education concerning the various causes of accidents necessarily is the basis for any improvement, it is fortunate that a commercial tieup which makes anti-accident advertising profitable is possible.

Ohio, on insurance company reports, had 50 less deaths from automobile accidents during the first three months of this year than it had last year. The total is still disgracefully large—440. Still, if the advantage could be held throughout the year, it would represent a real achievment. Is it being too optimistic to hope that motorists are learning to be more careful?

Review And Forecast.

The Republican national convention of 1932 takes its place in political history. Further entries of action by the assembled party can not be made for four more years—years which Republicans and the nation earnestly hope will restore the relative calm of improved national conditions.

Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis again will head the ticket, renominated without a contest. It has been remarked often that among the delegates in Chicago there was scarcely a trace of the enthusiasm that party adherents traditionally show for their leaders. Might this not be a favorable sign? Might it not be an indication that some of the ridiculous flamboyancy that has been a discredit to politics is being forced out in the present struggle with hard facts?

The platforms of the two parties are both reviews and forecasts. Republicans have set forth at considerable length their claims of merit for their preceding efforts and their future program. Under the administration of Herbert Hoover, the party has been the buffeting point thrown against economic adversity. It presents Mr. Hoover's record without apology, in the invariable manner of politics.

A statement of broad general interest, remarkable in the fact that it amounts to public castigation of certain Republicans in their own party platform, is that one dealing with party regularity. If any proof be needed to convince Americans that the instrument of good government is the two-party system, it is available in the record of the present congress. Party control simply did not exist in the house, Republican representatives stampeding with loose Democrats to bring about the destruction of any kind of a legislative plan. Americans have profound respect for independent thinking, but they mistrust thinking so independent that it ceases to be representative of anything but local prejudices, wild theories and self-seeking ambition.

Since it is primarily a bid for support in the election, the platform necessarily includes many divisions addressed to specifically designated groups. Demands for short platforms that can be memorized are perennial, but the platform function forbids fulfillment. Even the Republican statement of policy on national prohibition, analyzed in another editorial on this page, had gained formidable bulk before it covered the ground.

Considered as a whole the Republican platform is as all other political platforms have been to the average observer—a lengthy document of little direct interest to individuals, but containing in its volume all the indispensable statements which are necessary to answer the questions of the millions from one end of the country to another who, the party hopes, will cast their votes for Republican candidates next November. The platform, in brief, is a necessary part of political equipment, sometimes embarrassing but indispensable, nevertheless.

The Conspicuous Plank.

Few Americans will read the Republican's platform from beginning to end. Containing numerous statements of interest only to minority groups represented in the party's whole structure, it is not intended to be of general interest.

National attention naturally is given the conspicuous plank—the party's declaration of policy on prohibition, which, next to the individuals who will compete for the presidential election, is the most popular issue involved this year.

The plank represents a concession to the increasing body of opinion, within and outside the Republican party, which has been demanding a showdown on the prohibition problem. It pledges the party to engage in the complicated business of resubmission. It does not pledge the party to work for repeal.

It will be only with difficulty that many will grasp the distinction between the two policies. A pledge to press for repeal of the amendment would have been a direct rebuke to the vast number of prohibitionists within the party, who then would have found themselves alienated by a single issue. A pledge to give the people an opportunity to pass judgment upon an amendment allowing states to deal with the liquor problem under federal supervision maintains party unity. If anti-prohibition strength be as great as the most ardent anti-prohibitionists claim it is, victory is assured them. If that strength be not sufficient to prevail over prohibitionists, the dry section of the party will not have lost its voice nor its identity.

There is little wisdom in attempting to understand at this time the whole, intricate business of amending the Constitution. The political significance of the party's declaration is the important thing. The Democratic party, while it may deny recognition to that portion of its membership which remains dry and pledge itself to work for outright repeal, has at its command only the same constitutional avenues of approach as the Republican party has pledged itself to hold open. Both parties will recognize the necessity for dealing with the dangerous evils that have attended efforts to maintain the 18th amendment. This is progress, whether considered from the wet or the dry standpoint.

Other Editorial Opinions

CRIME IN AMERICA.

How are we to explain the fact that Canada is comparatively free from crimes of violence? The dominion and the republic exist alongside one another and one wonders why there should be this great difference between them. The prevalence of crime in the United States is, undoubtedly, partly due to prohibition. Since the republic went dry the liquor traffic has been driven underground; in large measure bootlegging gangs have taken over control of affairs in certain areas; gangs have steadily grown in power and audacity; battles with machine guns have been quite a common sight in the streets of Chicago and many other large cities throughout the republic have been the scenes of daring outrages. What is far worse is the fact that most of the criminals have been immune from punishment.

If we look behind prohibition we find another reason for the non-enforcement of the law in the fact that most of the judges are elected by public vote and therefore, unfitted for office; while the police forces are mere political machinery. Some people have attributed the terrible record of the United States to the submerging of the original Anglo-Saxon population by a tremendous inundation of continental European immigrants. Some semblance of truth is loaned to the theory by the circumstance that many of the criminals of whom we read from day to day bear foreign names. The curious thing, however, is that the bearers of these names did not become criminals until they resided under American institutions.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

OLD OHIO COPPER AXES

By J. H. Galbraith.

In the Ohio archaeological and historical society's collection of relics of pre-historic people living on Ohio soil, are some implements made of copper, and of these the axes attract the most attention. It is a singular thing that these axes have exactly the general shape of the ones used today.

Authorities differ as to the mode of making these axes, some believing that first they were roughly cast and then finished by pounding, and others that they were pounded into shape wholly by beating copper nuggets. But be that as it may, the question arises: Did the experience and reasoning power of the prehistoric people, and those of the people of our time, lead them both to this as the best shape for the general purpose to which the axe was to be put, or did the idea originate far back in the line of the development of the human race and was it carried down separate lines until axes produced from these two widely divergent lines, laid down side by side exhibit one common shape.

The ancients are supposed by some to have known a process, now lost, by which copper and other soft metals might be tempered to something like the hardness of our steel.

They may have been only battle axes, or if for industrial uses, intended for cutting the soft sap part of wood, or for removing bark for which ordinary native copper would be hard enough. There was no holes in the axes for handles. Cloth fiber usually attached to such axes as they are dug out of the earth, suggests that possibly they were thus covered to facilitate the use when held in the hands.

New York Day By Day

By O. O. McINTYRE.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Purely personal piffle: I feel a sissie talking to an Indian. Andrew Mellon suggests having just stepped off a glacier. No celebrity has the self-effacing modesty of Helen Wills Moody. A favorite candy is old-fashioned conical shaped chocolate drops.

Slum streets interest me more than fashionable boulevards. If I don't go to work directly after breakfast I'm sunk for the day. Until I met him, I somehow thought of Basil Woon as a Chinese. There is an ink spot on the face of my desk clock that is a startling silhouette of Mrs. Fiske.

Intimate personal correspondence is on post-cards in red ink. I enjoy plays best from the front row of the balcony. Nothing infuriates me like telephone callers asking me to guess who they are. I once found a clothes-pin in a Baked Alaska. And wear evening dress collars with enormous minstrel wings.

The only actress to whom I ever sought an introduction was Raquel Miller. People I like are often those I disliked before meeting. In particular—Maury H. B. Paul. The criticism I have enjoyed most of my writings, and I think the best is: "Its virtue is its unashamed littleness."

Of all people whose society I have loved and lost, the one I miss most is that of Will Hogg. Texas Guinan is always under the delusion I'm mad at her. I'm never "mad" at anybody. A distinct diversion in my life vanished when the Palace performances became continuous.

Literature's most annoying figure is George Bernard Shaw. I think the country would be well off with the Stock Exchange closing permanently. The most interesting of the wild game hunters is Frank Buck. I cannot remember ever drinking a glass of water between meals.

Every once in a while I have a sudden longing to visit Mt. Vernon. I frequently dream of getting a fish-hook caught in my ear. No dish equals dunking corn-bread in pot-likker. I'm rather tired of reading of the social activities of the Huttons.

I had a pronounced conviction the Lindbergh baby had been killed immediately after the great hue and cry went up. For no reason whatever, I never cared to see Lunt and Fontanne. I've had three invitations to dine at the White House, but had stage freight. I never knew until last week what a costumer was. Nothing impresses me like an elevator in a private home.

I walk out on "wonder kiddies" on the stage. Just an old grouch. I have a bet the Empire building will be filled by 1984 and read Variety from "kiver to kiver" each week. When showing visitors around I manage to pass a dozen traffic cops with whom I have a waving acquaintance. Every letter I have published in my column has been genuine. The most interesting one was not published. Although its author begged me to.

The only high-brow dancing I ever enjoyed was that of Isadore Duncan. And I was a trifle lit. The best teller of drunk stories is James Barton. I have no bank account, and my personal belongings are limited to my clothes and a typewriter. When I need money my wife gives it to me. She has never asked me for a cent. Nor have we ever had a spat about finances.

Only two dramatic critics in New York strike me as diagnosticians. But all are entertaining. I have visited Harlem caberets but twice. Every visitor to Europe I urged to see Antwerp has thanked me profusely. I'm afraid of women with memories, but have no fear of spiders. The only orderly thing I do daily is cap my fountain pen. Ted Healy is my favorite of the rowdy comics. George Jean Nathan always looks as though he just woke up. I am ever at sea about the French Louis and cannot remember which one said: "Apres mois, le deluge." Also I act as though I understand all about period furniture, whereas I don't know a thing. I have never called a Pullman porter George.

Twenty years ago I was a borrower at three supposedly reputable lending societies, but which were rapacious loan sharks. Had I not engaged a reputable lawyer, I would still be paying off. The only fist fight I ever had was in Dayton, O., and—I still feel silly about it—I hit the wrong fellow. Don Marquis is the best—or was when he was columning—of all present day columnists.

I could not enjoy the movie Tarzan for wondering about the hero's clean shave and modern hair cut. That sort!

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

ARTERIORSCLEROSIS is the medical term for a condition commonly known as hardening of the arteries. In this affliction, the arteries lose their normal elasticity and become brittle, due to certain changes in the artery walls.

These blood vessels often called "pipe lines," contain within their walls elastic tissue and muscular tissue. When the heart beats, blood is forced into the arteries. The blood pressure, or force necessary to maintain a constant flow of blood, is made possible by the action of the elastic tissues within the blood vessel walls.

In arteriosclerosis the elasticity is diminished or lost. Instead of healthy muscular and elastic tissue, the pipe lines are brittle and rigid, due to deposits of lime which cause the lining of the arteries to become rough and irregular.

When these changes occur, the pipe lines no longer assist in the circulation of the blood. Instead, the hardened arteries serve to retard the normal flow of blood, and thus more work is thrown upon the heart, causing an increase in the blood pressure. Also, insufficient blood is carried to certain parts of the body, causing discomfort and pain.

There are three types of arteriosclerosis, and the most common type is due to old age. It is well known that as we grow older our blood vessels undergo certain changes. Some degree of hardening of the arteries is present in most old people, and some persons grow old more quickly than others. Hardening of the arteries is now believed to depend on how we live, rather than how long we live. Overstrain of any sort, continued for a long time, is the chief factor in causing hardening of the arteries while overeating, overexercise, or lack of sufficient exercise will produce definite changes in the arteries which lead to hardening.

Arterioscelerosis may be due to infection from certain infectious diseases, such as typhoid fever, pneumonia and tuberculosis; and it is believed by some authorities that focal infections found in diseased tonsils, infected teeth, sinuses, gallbladder or appendix, are factors in causing hardening of the arteries. In these cases it is believed that the trouble is caused by the liberation of poisons which result from the infection.

The third type of arteriosclerosis accompanies or follows high blood pressure. Contrary to common belief, not all cases of high blood pressure end in hardening of the arteries, although many cases show signs of it. Certain high blood pressure if neglected is likely to result in hardening of the arteries.

Persons with arteriosclerosis should not indulge in strenuous exercise. Rest and relaxation are essential for them. The diet should be simple. Overeating is dangerous. Salt, peppers, spices and condiments should be avoided and the diet should contain a minimum amount of meat. A daily afternoon nap is advisable, and whenever possible it is wise to stay outdoors in the sunlight and fresh air.

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM T. JONES.

MANY singular things occurred during the Civil war both north and south of the line that separated the states then combatting each other over the doctrine of state rights. One of these was the fact that some southern men were allied with northern armies and that some northern men found themselves wearing the gray.

The latter experience befell a once Columbiana county man who previously and thereafter lived within its confines. This man was George A. Fisher of Yellow Creek township. He was born in the neighborhood surrounding Calcutta. He was keen mentally so that at 18 he was qualified for the teaching of school. And thereafter for several years he followed teaching.

Then he decided to widen his activities. So he went to the great open country of Texas. There he engaged in stock raising. Soon after locating there war between the states began. He was among those who were conscripted into the services of the South. But his loyalty was for the Stars and Stripes.

Watching his opportunity he managed to make his escape. Following his desertion he had numerous adventures in making his way into the northern lines. In all he traversed a distance of 500 miles to do so. In time after getting back to his former home he resumed his profession of teaching.

In later years he wrote of his experiences while a soldier in the Confederate army and of those which he met in escaping from his unwanted duties. His recollections were published in book form by J. W. Doughaday of Philadelphia. This volume was entitled, "The Yankee Conscript," or "Eighteen Months in Dixie."

Mr. Fisher personally disposed of 900 copies of his book throughout the country. He kept a record of the names and addresses of each purchaser. These he utilized somewhat in the prosecution of his campaign in 1880 and 1886 for county auditor. He thus had the addresses of many persons who he thus was enabled to reach with little difficulty.

THERE doubtless are some of these volumes of which Mr. Fisher was the author still available in some libraries of persons in Columbiana county. They have long since qualified as among the numerous books that are by now out of publication. Many of them doubtless were destroyed in the settlement of old estates and in the attempt to get rid of much extraneous matter.

One of the interesting departures hereabouts would be the recovery of these volumes and many like them of the Civil war period with the idea of keeping them where they may be consulted for data which can be had in perhaps no other periodical or pamphlet.

Instead of summarily getting rid of old magazines, books and especially scrap books which are to be found in practically every home these should be listed and inquiries made of certain responsible persons as to their value for preservation. By now this book by Mr. Fisher would be keenly interesting to many. It may have certain facts that would go far in clearing up mooted war notions regarding that which happened in the southwest during his brief residence in it as well as the several communities through which he passed in returning to the north.

To say the least the pages of this volume doubtless were impregnated with the atmosphere of the period which due to his own conscription while it was known that he was from the north may carry a slant that is all but unknown or unappreciated in these days of an interim thereafter measured by some seven decades.

On Saturday evening, March 20, 1886, a debate was held in that later section of East Liverpool then known as Ohio City. And in those long-ago days debates were the vogue. They were seriously engaged in. They made for a signal contribution to the development of public opinion. Then as now there was keen feeling noted at the inability of voters arriving at just conclusions before casting their ballots.

It was felt that the voting of many was but the reaction of impulse or the hearing of some striking phrase when as a matter of genuine good citizenship more general knowledge of prevailing issues should be obtained to form the judgment that motivated the subsequent casting of a ballot.

SO it came about that from this background of prevailing viewpoint the question arranged for discussion upon that evening was "Shall a man who can neither read or write be allowed to vote." The question was so worded that the affirmative side maintained persons thus handicapped should not be permitted to exercise the suffrage since doubtless they would, because of it, fail to have in their possession sufficient facts to warrant the generating of an intelligent opinion requisite to vote as it was intended that citizens should vote.

The affirmative viewpoint of the pending question was supported by J. J. Purinton Jr. The negative arguments were presented upon this occasion by W. F. Lones and D. J. Smith. Three judges heard the debate in all its details. They were M. W. Elliott, Charles Hanley and Sampel Dickson. They rendered a decision in favor of the affirmative side.

The spring equinox introduced itself about midnight of that day with a wind storm. It was accompanied by severe sleet and rain. This contained during all of the following Sunday and upon Monday a great quantity of snow fell which defeated the aspirations of the then residents of the town for an immediately early spring.

But by early June of that year the weather and growing conditions were epitomized by such affirmations as the following from the surrounding rural localities: "Sheep are all shorn," "the wool clip is large," "cherries are abundant," "harvest will be early," "corn is not growing fast," "wheat now looks finer," "today's showers are welcomed," "apples and peaches will be plentiful," "oats do not yet show rapid growth, a little rain will help, "red-top or sorrel seems to have taken possession of many meadows and many crops have been destroyed by it."

To all these, favorable for the most part, reactions to the state of the crops at the moment was the additional comforting declaration: "Good attendance Tuesday at the Republican county convention at New Lisbon." Fine crop prospects plus Republican enthusiasm in those days of the middle eighties made for what might be regarded as the ultimate in Columbiana county.

It was on June 10, 1886, that the Sons of Veterans Drum Corps was formed in East Liverpool. The fifers in it were Frederick Timmons and Samuel Jackson with Herbert Bloor, James Rinehart, William Dickey and John Thompson as the snare drummers. The bass drum was manipulated by J. Nichols. The instruments were procured from the W. L. Thompson company.

CENTRAL SERVICE STATION RANKS HIGH

SURVEY SHOWS NEWELL STORE WELL EQUIPPED

New and Used Autos Sold at Reasonable Prices.

COMBINING quick, efficient service with adequate equipment, the Central Service station in Fourth and Washington streets, Newell, has become one of the best prepared, all-around automobile owners' store in the tri-state district, a minute survey discloses.

This same dual policy of "service with equipment" is not confined only to the Newell station, but has been extended to the second store under the same management, located in Maplewood, East Liverpool. This program, benefiting the motoring public and supplying them with all possible necessities, has been painstakingly developed by William Mangano, ably assisted by his brother, Anthony Mangano, the owners.

The brothers originally came into public favor when they opened up a neat automobile service station in Washington street, Newell, four years ago, and since that time their business has increased to such an extent and their products created such a favorable impression among motorists, that three months ago they deemed it advisable to open another service station in Maplewood here.

Best Gasolines Sold

Two kinds of high grade gasoline and three grades of fine oil may be obtained at the Newell service station, in addition to all kinds of automobile accessories. Sunoco and Shell gasolines, two of the best on the market for quick starting and unequaled sustained power, are handled by the Central Service station, as well as motor oils of the same name, supplemented by Mobile A. All grades are carried in stock.

Another feature of this station is a complete line of Goodyear and Firestone tires, with sizes to fit any make of automobile. The very names Goodyear and Firestone sound the keynote of the high standard of merchandise carried. In 1923 the Firestone company research workers started on the development of the new balloon tire, which has now been perfected and placed on the market. Repeated tests have shown that these balloons can be used with greater safety and at higher speeds than the old high pressure tires permitted. If the Central Service store does not carry them in stock they will order them upon application.

In addition to tires the concern also is well supplied with high grade Penn batteries. Tubes, battery cables, brake linings, top dressing, body polish, spark plugs, fan belts, electric light bulbs—in fact anything that the motorist would need for keeping his machine in perfect running order.

Retain Auto Agency

Completing the automobile service, the Central Service stations have obtained distributors' agencies for the Plymouth, Dodge and Willys-Knight automobiles. The managers of these stations stand ready and willing at all times to demonstrate any of the three makes of cars, and discuss convenient terms with the prospective buyer.

All of the new models for 1932 turned out by these companies may be seen at first-hand by communicating with the head of the Newell store. Sedans, coupes, roadsters—with convertible tops—and other styles of lesser demand are demonstrated daily by this distributing agency. About 35 used cars are sold each month, Mangano estimated.

Bringing the Washington street (Newell) store up to date, a line of best radios and refrigerators have been installed. Here one may purchase either the Stewart-Warner or Apex radio and the fine Mayflower electric refrigerator at a cost comparatively lower than most stores sell them, for there is no expensive overhead causing them to boost the price of the merchandise to cover expenses.

Just keep in mind the Newell and Maplewood Central Service stations for all automobile attention, or for economic radio and electric refrigerator purchasing. Telephone Newell 3142-J and Main 739-J.

NEWELL CENTRAL SERVICE STORE

The Newell store of the Central Service store, in Fourth and Washington streets, managed by William Mangano, is shown above. Sunoco and Shell gasolines and Goodyear and Firestone tires are sold by this service station, as well as all automobile accessories. A similar service station is operated in Maplewood, East Liverpool.

Sustained Power and Carbonless Combustion Marks Freedom Gas

City Service Station in West Sixth Street Sells High Grade Automobile Fuel and Oil, Uniform in Performance.

It would appear that in the choice of both gasoline and lubricating oil for its patrons' use, the City Service station with its station at West Sixth and Jackson streets, has selected a winner. This company handles the products of the Freedom Oil company, which in addition to being one of the big fellows in the business is also one of the oldest and most experienced. Freedom gasoline and Freedom motor oils are both at the top of the ladder.

This gasoline is compounded differently from most of them. The tendency is in gasoline to make some one feature predominant. This one will select quick-starting to the sacrifice of the solider elements so needful for sustained power as the selling point and therefore neglect the easy starting. Both of these may excel in their lines, but it would take both of them combined to make the kind of gasoline the Freedom has as its ideal — one that in general all around efficiency is a leader; that combines the quick starting power with the sustained force.

Freedom gasoline is splendidly balanced. It combines easy starting and quick pick-up with smooth, complete, carbonless combustion in absolute uniformity day in and day out. The City Service Station has many customers who are most enthusiastic about Freedom gasoline and who look for the Freedom sign before they stop at a station.

For Freedom motor oils much can be said, Paraffine based, it is extremely long lived. In fact, it is advertised as a motor oil that will not wear out, resisting heat and wear and retaining a high degree of viscosity at all times. The claim is confidently made that in actual use its wearing qualities will afford higher satisfaction and greater economy.

The City Service station maintains a washing and lubricating service, both under high pressure, and all work is done there by one of the proprietors.

CHEMIST ENTERS GOVERNOR RACE

By The United Press.

COLUMBUS, O.—William (Fighting Bill) McAlphine, candidate for governor of Ohio on the progressive ticket, announced he is out to "defeat Millionaire Ingalls and Governor White without a nickle in his pocket."

"Fighting Bill" is confident he will be given an occasional ring of sausage, that farmers will give him a drink of cream now and then and that gasoline stations may donate gasoline for a dilapidated automobile.

McAlphine's friends have donated him a house trailer and five gallons of gasoline to begin his campaign. He is looking for a chauffeur who owns an old car to pull the trailer and who can "ask for" food and cook it.

The holder of a Master of Arts degree from Ohio State, McAlpine has been a chemist for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company.

TIMELY BRAKE SERVICE SAVES BAD ACCIDENTS

"Jim" Bowman Cites Value Of Adjustments.

This year, as never before, balanced budgets and balanced brakes are the most important need of the nation and especially of America's 26,000,000 motorists, in the opinion of "Jim" Bowman, who has conducted a minute study of our grievous automobile accident problem at his up-to-date garage in 106 East Fourth street.

"Motorists this year, with new taxes of all kinds facing them, must take special care in fitting the family car with the family budget. The 1932 cars are more powerful and faster than their predecessors, Mr. Bowman said this week. "In many states higher speeds than ever before are allowed and encouraged by local authorities. Smooth, efficient stopping is one of their greatest and most vital characteristics—while they are new and in perfect adjustment. Quickly, however, due to the increased strenuosity of 1932 driving and the use of free wheeling, their brakes are bound to become worn and out of adjustment. This will present a terrific hazard this year to the car owner who is now aware of this new factor in the brake situation.

"The specter of danger will be intensified, also, by the fact that hundreds of thousands of people are deferring the purchase of new cars at this uncertain time and will try to get through the season with old vehicles, many of which are in bad shape and have dangerously worn and out-of-adjustment brakes. These cars, mingling on the highways with the faster newer machines, present a grave menace to drivers and passengers in them and in other vehicles."

The remedy is a simple one. If each owner of a new or old machine will go to the Bowman brake service station once every month for an inspection of his brakes, a re-adjustment if they are out of balance and a relining if they are dangerously worn, the expense will be trifling. The resulting actual safety may save thousands of dollars and untold grief in the avoidance of accidents, hospital bills and law suits. In addition, the justified feeling of confidence in a properly braked car will have a high but intangible value at this time when our minds are occupied with too many other problems.

Bowman is prepared to take care of any or all brake troubles, having installed modern equipment for testing and relining. Capable mechanics are maintained in order that the motorist that visits this garage may have the benefit of their many years of experience here. Telephone inquiries for service to Main 23.

Auto Wrecking Company Saves Time and Money For Motorists

Dresden Avenue Shop Carries Full Line of Used Parts For All Makes.

In the older days, when a machine broke it meant nine times out of ten that it must be laid up until the factory could be reached and the part sent on, with the probable addition of telegraph and express charges. The universality of the automobile has changed that not only in one line but in many. Nowadays when a man has a broken part in his car he goes to the East Liverpool Auto Wrecking company, doing business at 767 Dresden avenue, gets the part he wants and has the car running in a short time. That is not only convenient; it is real service.

This stock carried in this place includes parts for all of the more popular machines and for most of the less known. It has about every thing that a man could need, too. One does not like to think of the possibility of needing a part, but every one who drives does need such attention at some time, and it certainly is a convenience to be able to get it right in town, without an instant's delay, and yet not have to pay a fancy price for the convenience.

The line includes used batteries, used tires and tubes, used radiators and many other automobile parts, covering just about everything that the motorist is likely to call for. Many bargains are there for the asking, and very seldom does a customer go away without being satisfied.

The company buys all makes of automobiles; has a wrecker and trucks for its service and covers all this part of Ohio. For road service telephone Main 1013.

NEW PLYMOUTH GIVES SURPRISE

E. G. Watson, Service manager of the Litten Motor Sales Co. in East Fifth street, agents for the Plymouth automobiles, relates the following story as told him by a friend recently:

"My own car was laid up for repairs and I borrowed a friend's new Plymouth to make a business trip to another city. I wasn't in any particular hurry and I handled the Plymouth—the first I ever had driven—just as I always handle my own car. I am a conservative driver and I never have had a ticket before.

"I had stopped at a red light and I was just getting under way again when the officer told me to pul up to the curb. As he hailed me, I glanced at my speedometer, so as to be prepared to give him an argument. To my surprise, it registered 35 miles an hour, which is what he wrote on the ticket.

"Now I was technically guilty, but I think that my fine ought to be remitted because I had no idea any car would gather speed so quickly as that Plymouth."

Unfortunately for this pleader, the judge ruled that the speed limit holds good for a Plymouth as well as any other car.

A new type of building fastener does away with riveting and therefore the noise of the process.

TO BE TAKEN AT FACE VALUE

When you pick up this newspaper and read the announcements of this city's local merchants, or those of national advertisers, you need never think to question the sincerity and honesty of their statements.

This reliance on Advertising has been brought about by Advertising, and is one of Advertisings greatest contributions to the satisfaction and ease of modern living.

An advertiser deliberately attempting to deceive takes the quick, short road to ruin. The insincere or extravagant statement may have its brief day. But the greater the attention it attracts, the sooner the public will discover and destroy its deceit.

The cornerstone of successful shopkeeping always has been "keep faith with the public"; give honest values and truthfully represent the merchandise and its service. This principle had to find its expression in Advertising—for Advertising is nothing more than the owner of a store or a factory talking with people in ther homes about such things as shoes and soap, radios and rugs, blankets and bloomers.

It pays to read the advertisements. They are first-hand news of what is being invented, fashioned, and perfected in the workshops of the world for your well-being, comfort and convenience.

Sports Editor, The Review

TRYING to dope out this East End Softball league race is somewhat like attempting to put a Chinese cross word puzzle together in London on a foggy night. Not more than three or four days ago everyone was contented to give the first half championship to Carnahan Drugs and start preparations for the second half drive.

Today two clubs are right on the Drugmen's heels with an excellent chance of edging out the Carnahan combine for the title.

Score, 17-0!

This happened as a result of a surprising 9-2 victory scored by the Tice Grocers over Carnahans Friday evening at Klondyke. It was one of the worst wallopings handed Carnahans since they have entered softball.

Beers-Hanks Motors advanced into third place, only a game and a half behind the leaders by burying Anderson Coals under a 17-0 score at the Bowl.

Speed Deems was the hurler who turned back Carnahans and he did a mighty effective job of the task. He gave up only three hits and one run in the first eight innings, and then expanded in the ninth to allow three more bingles and an additional tally. He received fine support, especially from Newt Mosser at short who handled eight chances faultlessly.

Two Homers in a Row.

The feature of the tussle took place when Jackie Campbell and Gus Mountz clouted successive home runs off Brooks, star Carnahan twirler. There was nothing "funkey" about these circuit clouts, clouts.

These two boys also each collected a double. Mosser checked in with three singles. Every man on the Tice club contributed at least one run to the 15-hit attack. Carnahans committed five errors behind Brooks, but these only served to increase the size of the final score.

Beers-Hanks got off to a good start against Andersons by amassing six runs in the first inning and they never stopped, tallying four in the seventh, one in the fifth, and two in the fourth, eighth and ninth frames. Pardell led the hitting with four bingles, while Butch got three. McBride and C. Wagner got four of the seven hits Massey gave up.

Almost Out of Race.

The Motors banged out 18 hits, including eight doubles. Pardelgot three of these and Miglore two.

The defeat dropped Andersons into a tie with Tice Grocers for fourth place. These teams trail Carnahans by two and a half games and have only a mathematical chance of copping the first half title.

Detroit Recruit Leads His Loop

"Schoolboy" Wonder Cops First Three Starts.

By The Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, Tex.—The Texas league has a new pitching sensation this year—big "Schoolboy" Rowe of the Beaumont Exporters.

Rowe, a 20-year-old lad just one year out of high school, started the season with six straight victories that put him at the top of the heap as the only undefeated hurler in the league. This performance also gave him the leading strikeout mark with 49.

The youngster, whose right name is Lynwood Thomas Rowe, stands 6 feet 4½ inches and weighs 206 pounds. In school he played football, baseball, basketball and tennis, in addition to taking part in track meets and shooting a good game of golf.

The tall right-hand recruit belongs to the Detroit Tigers who plucked him last summer from the semi-pro leagues of Louisiana.

He topped the country's handicap shooters in 1930 with an average of .9212 on 3,500 targets and was second high in doubles with an average of .9169. He has annexed more than 500 prizes

Squeezing Rubber Ball Aids Ferrell's Pitching

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O.—Wes Ferrell, Cleveland Indians' ace pitcher, uses a rubber ball but it is only for purposes of exercise.

Ferrell used to milk cows to strengthen his fingers. Now he squeezes the ball for long periods.

When he shags flies in the outfield at practice periods Farrell throws with his left arm to prevent overdevelopment of his right arm and side.

Foul Ball Through Box Makes Ump Scratch Head

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex.—A ball driven through the pitcher's box in a sand-lot game wound up as a foul.

After whizzing by the hurler the ball caromed off the bag at second into foul territory about five feet inside of third base.

The umpire guessed foul, but admitted he wasn't sure.

American League Has Distinct Edge in Pitching.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Were it not for Jimmie Foxx, the major league could be neatly separaed this season, the National as the slugging cirucit and the American as the pitching league, but Foxx' all-around clouting prevents such a classification.

This week Foxx has led the league in batting, scoring hits, home runs, batted in, losing only his tie for second in triples. Up to today, Jimmie had 25 homers, four within a week, and has driven in 71 tallies. Babe Ruth was not far behind with 21 homers and 62 runs batted in. The totals for the National league leaders were 17 homers by Chuck Klein and 60 runs batted in by Don Hurst, both of the Phillies.

Foxx' other first place marks were his .376 batting average, 61 runs and 83 hits and here as well as in the other clouting sections the National league was ahead. Klein had 66 runs and 86 hits and Hurst had hit safely 85 times. Paul Waner of Pittsburgh, National league leader, had a batting average of .390. Klein's other honors come from 10 triples, 56 runs batted in and eight stolen bases, all good for second place in his league.

Lombardi Threatens

Other slugging leaders were Paul Waner with 21 doubles, Red Worthington, Boston Braves with 27, and Charley Gehringer of Detroit, with 18. Babe Herman, Cincinnati, 11 triples and Buddy Myer, Washington, nine.

The leading batters in each league behind the two leaders were: American league—Walker, Detroit, .364; Dickey, New York, .351; Combs, New York, .340; Gehrig, New York, .332; Lazzeri, New York, .331; Levy, St. Louis, .324; Averill, Cleveland, .319; Jolley, Boston, .316; Fothergill, Chicago, .315.

National league—Lombardi, Cincinnati, .372; Hurst, Philadelphia, .365; Hafey, Cincinnati, .359; Ott, New York, .342; Klein, Philadelphia .337; Whitney, Philadelphia, .332; Herman, Cincinnati, .329; Critz, New York, 327; O'Doul, Brooklyn, .327.

The American league had a distinct edge in pitching. Three hurlers in the junior circuit had won 12 games apiece while the National league leaders, Steve Swetonic of Pittsburgh, was credited with seven victories and one defeat. Vernon Gomez of New York, and Bob Grove, of Philadelphia, set the American league pace.

Portage Course Is Picturesque

Scene of Ohio Amateur Presents Stiff Test.

By The Associated Press.

AKRON, O. — Portage Country club, scene of the Ohio Golf association amateur championship this year, starting July 11, is one of the most picturesque courses to be found anywhere in the state. While it is not a long or treacherous course, it makes up with tightly trapped greens what it lacks in yardage.

There is ample room for a long hitter, but a premium is placed on the accurate hit-shot, rather than on the ball that is clubbed to excessive length.

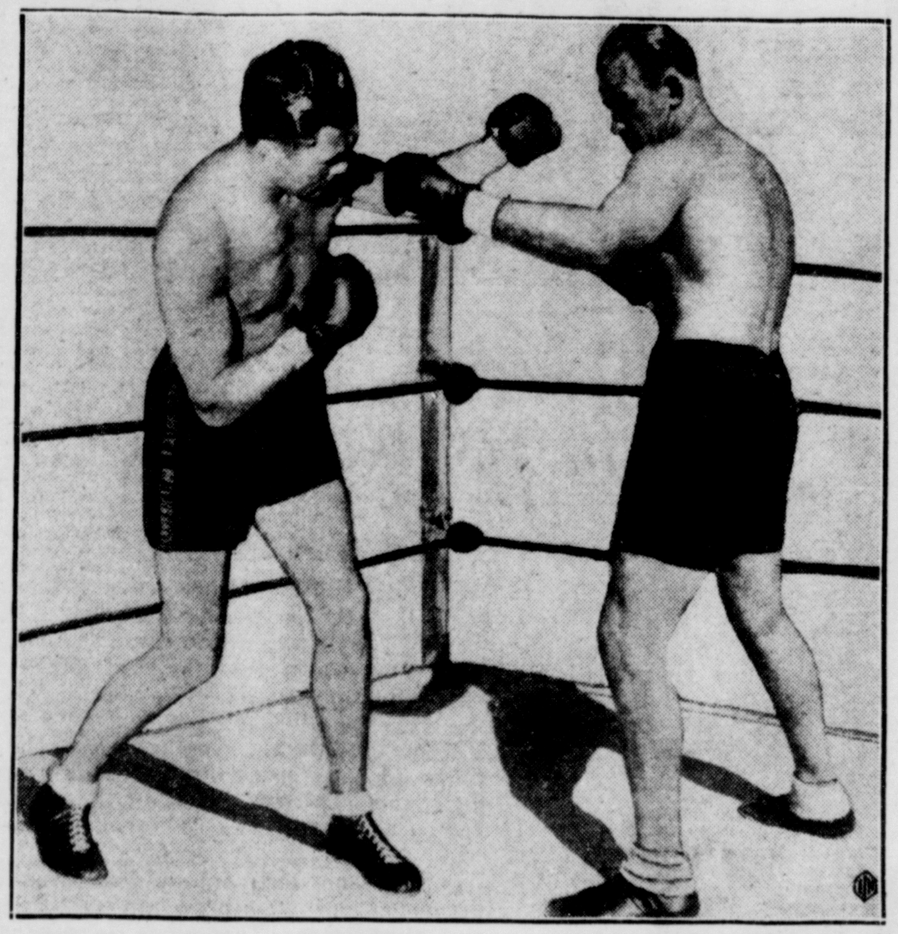
For the state tournament Portage will measure 6,235 yards, and the card will read:

Par out—	453	444	345—	36
Par in —	454	434	434—	36—71

TIED WORLD MARK

Not only did Percy Beard of the New York Athletic club win the 120-yard high hurdle event at the annual Metropolitan A. A. U. track and field meet at the Yankee stadium, New York, but in doing so he tied the world's record. Beard's time in the event was 14-2 seconds. He's headed for the Olympics.

READY FOR WORLD'S TITLE BATTLE



This is how Max Schmeling (left), heavyweight champion of the world, and Jack Sharkey, Boston contender, will look when they square off to do battle for the title at the new Madison Square Garden arena at Long Island City, N. Y., June 21st On the last occasion the pair clashed, Schmeling was awarded the decision on a foul and a controversy was born as to what would have happened if it were not for Sharkey losing his head at that time. Some experts said the Boston sailor would have lost anyway; others that he looked a winner until the fatal low blow: Sharkey, himself, is confident he can down the Teuton Schlager.

Sharkey Tough On Referees

Challenger Puts Official "On Spot" in Most of Bouts.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, June 18. — Storm signals can be hoisted for the benefit of the man who referees the 15-round heavyweight championship bout between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey next Tuesday night.

Challenging Jack has an embarrassing habit of putting referees "on the spot" in almost all his crucial engagements. Drama, comic and otherwise, follows the Boston sailor wherever he goes.

Recall a few of his more important bouts. There was that match with Jack Dempsey when Sharkey turned his head long enough to claim a foul and long enough for Dempsey to put over a knockout punch; the match with Phil Scott in Ireland in which the Briton was counted out while claiming he had been hit low.

And finally there was his match with Schmeling, two years ago, when he fouled the German into the world's heavyweight title after giving him a terrific beating for nearly four rounds.

There will be no winning on a foul on Tuesday for the New York state athletic commission does not permit a fight to be stopped for that reason.

Faced with the possibility of a tremendous financial "flop," the garden yesterday ordered drastic reductions in high priced seats in the new garden bowl on Long Island increasing the $2 and $5 ducats to about 50,000. Only 17,000 seats of the grand total of 77,000 were left in the two brackets. This revision of prices meant that a gross of $500,000 was the best the garden could realize even should the fight be a sell-out. Prospects are for a "gate" of only about half that amount.

Iowa Gridder In Third Effort To End Career

By The Associated Press.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—Marcus Magnussen is going to try, try and try again to complete his varsity football competition.

One of the leading centers in the Big Ten in the season of 1929, playing with the University of Iowa eleven, Magnussen twice has been balked in his effort to play his third season.

Ineligibility in the fall of 1930 and a fractured leg at the start of the 1931 season kept Magnussen out of these campaigns.

Boatswain and Stepenfetchit Doped To Cop American Derby

Plenty of Long-shot Wagering Expected In Washington Park Feature Today.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Boatswain, a son of Man O'War, and Stephenfetchit were the form-players' favorites, but it looked as though there would be a lot of long-shot wagering on the 24th running today of the American Derby, Washington Park's $50,000 added tidbit for three-year olds.

Boatswain, racing in the colors of Walter M. Jefford, drew the number 14 post position for a fourteen-horse race, but immediately was installed as favorite at 5 to 2, with Stepenfetchit, Mrs. John Hay Whitney's hope, the second choice at 4 to 1 Neither, however, appeared to be enough of a stand-out to keep the more optimistic from expecting another Reveille Boy performance Reveille Boy won the 1930 renewal of the race and paid off at $113.08.

Until two weeks ago the race had all the earmarks of the best three-year old test of the season, but ill fortune removed first Burgoo King, Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, then Evening, the outstanding filly, among the three-year olds; Tick On and Economic. The fourteen named overnight, however, represented the best of the division still training.

W. R. Coe's Osculator ranked as the third choice at 6 to 1, Adobe Post, Prince Hotspur, and Yonkel were quoted at 8 to 1, and Gusto at 10 to 1. The longest prices were against Rowdy Boy, 100 to 1, and Our Fancy, 50 to 1.

Brazilian Coffee Helps Meet Olympic Expenses

By The Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO — Coffee will help take Brazil's team of nearly 50 to the Olympic games in Los Angeles.

The Itaquice of the Brazilian merchant marine, which sails June 20 for Los Angeles with the Brazilian athletes, will carry 50,000 sacks of coffee.

When the Brazilian Athletic confederation chartered the steamer it asked the cooperation of the national coffee council in getting a cargo that would defray most of the expenses of the voyage.

The coffee council, in turn, asked exporters to supply the necessary cargo.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Something very much like a panic apparently has taken hold of the Minneapolis Millers.

Donie Bush's team set out on the road leading the American Association and during the early part of the journey, not only held their own, but increased their margin to as much as four and one-half games. Something happened, however, and their edge over the high flying Columbus Red Birds today was less than one game.

Toledo took the first game of the series from the Millers, and yesterday Jim Moore outpitched Rube Benton to give the Mud Hens a 4 to 3 decision.

Columbus took advantage of Minneapolis' defeat, gaining a full game by defeating St. Paul, 5 to 4 in 11 innings of the first night game in the Red Bird park. The victory made glad an overflow crowd of 19,500 spectators. Phil Todt knocked a home run with two on in the first to give the Saints a lead, but the Birds came back for two in their half and finally tied the count in the ninth. A walk, an error and a sacrifice gave Columbus the winning run.

Indianapolis also strung along with the leaders, defeating Kansas City, 4 to 3. The Indians sent Handy Ernie Wingard out to do the pitching and he responded by holding the Blues after the first three innings.

Milwaukee spent an off day defeating the New York Yankees, 10 to 9, in 11 innings.

Sarazen Tells Story Of Open

Play at Home Green Gave Him Biggest Thrill, He Says.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The biggest moment Gene Sarazen derived from winning the British open golf championship with a record score came when he walked onto the home green at Sandwich and realized he could take four putts and still, in all likelihood, win with something to spare.

"I said to my caddie: 'Dan, maybe I'm a little dizzy from all this, but do you know I have this championship won?' He said, 'yes sir, you can take four putts and still be safe.' And I replied 'Dan, I know that but I am going to try to sink this one from 50 feet.' I missed doing it by 10 inches, and then the roar went up. Lady Astor grabbed my arm and I don't mind telling you now that I never felt a greater satisfaction in my life."

That's how Sarazen described the climax of his remarkable British triumph, still feeling the thrill of it as he came home to New York yesterday to receive an enthusiastic greeting, to be wined and told he was about to be crowned, if not already so, as the world golf champion, successor to Bobby Jones.

Majors Run Out Of Form

Only Five Clubs Occupy Spots Assigned Them.

By GAYLE TALBOT,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

With the season approaching the halfway mark, it appears the country's baseball experts should be permitted another guess on the outcome of the 1932 major league races. Thus far, they have taken a terrific trimming.

Sixty-eight of them, casting their ballots before the campaign began, gave a majority in favor of the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics to repeat in the National and American leagues, respectively.

Only three American league teams and two National have settled into the groove assigned them.

The Cubs, holding tenaciously to the National league top, probably have provided the biggest upset. They were picked to finish third.

The Braves, in second place, are four notches above the spot given them in pre-season calculations, while the Giants, picked by 15 to win, have failed to reach the first division. The Cards are running fourth.

Unless they suffer a reversal of form soon, the Yankees threaten to make a runaway in the American league. But it will occasion no great surprise if they win. The balloting between them and the Athletics was close, 38 choosing the A's to win and 28 liking the Yanks.

The remainder of the junior circuit is running fairly true to form, with Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis exactly where they were placed by the poll, but the Chicago White Sox have done better than anticipated in clinging to seventh place.

There was no action whatsoever yesterday, the American league having an open date and rain erasing the National league schedule.

150 ATHLETES IN CINCINNATI

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, June 18. — Track and field records were assaulted here today as more than 150 athletes competed in the Ohio A. A. U. championship.

The chief events were the 100-yard dash, high jump, javelin thrown and two mile run, and young men with distinction behind them were out after new triumphs.

Among them were George Simpson, former Ohio State university sprint star, who aspires to a berth on the American Olympic team; Sam Stolter, Cincinnati high school runner who won a place last year on the all-interscholastic national team, and Bob Brand, former Xavier university speedster and a finalist in the national intercollegiates two years ago.

The Church Invites You

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

IN LUKE'S Gospel, chapter four, verses 16 to 30, we read of Jesus as He returned to His home town, after a period of absence in His ministry. According to Luke, Jesus had gone to the synagogue to worship, and the local minister extended Him the ordinary courtesy of reading the message of the hour.

We are told that Jesus read from the book of the prophet Esias and as He did so, He read concerning Himself, even as Esias, had prophecied. According to the story, His audience was reverently attentive, until the Saviour informed them that it was He of whom Esias had written.

Such announcement by Jesus was the signal for trouble. His audience became enraged and threw him out. Perhaps, they sincerely believed Jesus was an imposter. They knew He was the Son of Joseph, so in all fairness let us say: They were sincere, in that they rejected Him.

Be that as it may: Since His birth, at Bethlehem, until this very hour, some have accepted Jesus, and some have rejected Him. The reasons for rejecting Jesus, are but two. We can believe in Him, but reject Him because we have not the courage to serve Him. Such is a pitiful condition, and needs no comment.

Again, there are those who reject Jesus, because they do not believe in Him. They have honest convictions to the contrary. After all, if we believe in Him, and say that we accept Him, and do not live consistently, with our profession; ours, will be the greatest condemnation of all.

If a friend is being unjustly accused in court, and we have knowledge that will aid to the ends of justice, our responsibility is obvious. "Ye are my witnesses," saith the Lord.

TOOTS AND CASPER—The Colonel in Person -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- By Jimmy Murphy

WELL, OF ALL PEOPLE! COLONEL HOOFER! I'M SO GLAD TO SEE YOU! WE THOUGHT YOU HAD FORGOTTEN ALL ABOUT US!
BY NO MEANS, TOOTS! I'D SOONER SEE YOU AND CASPER THAN ANYBODY, BUT I'VE BEEN SO BUSY LATELY
I IMAGINED MAYBE YOU THOUGHT I'M NOT GOOD ENOUGH FOR YOU SINCE YOU BECAME THE DUKE OF SPIFFELSHIRE!
ALL I WANT IS TO BE BACK IN MY LITTLE COTTAGE WITH SOPHIE! I WANT TO RENOUNCE MY TITLE BUT SOPHIE WON'T LISTEN TO IT!
DO YOU MEAN TO TELL ME YOU WANT TO CHUCK YOUR TITLE AND ALL THE FAME AND FORTUNE THAT GOES WITH IT?
YES, I DO, CASPER, AND I WANT YOU TO HELP ME! WHEN YOU SEE SOPHIE I WISH YOU'D TRY TO INFLUENCE HER TO MY WAY OF THINKING! I WANT TO BE PLAIN COLONEL HOOFER AGAIN!
JIMMY MURPHY
I ALWAYS THOUGHT IT WOULDN'T TAKE MUCH TO GIVE HIM A SWELLED-HEAD, TOOTS, BUT I WAS WRONG! MONEY HASN'T SPOILED HIM! I CAN'T GET OVER HOW UNASSUMING HE IS!
I FELT LIKE ASKING HIM TO TELL ME THE LOW-DOWN ON THAT TIME IN KENTUCKY, BUT I DIDN'T HAVE THE NERVE!

PENGUIN EGGS BANNED

CHICAGO — A politician here will have to go without his Penguin eggs for breakfast for a while. A hotel, learning he liked them, imported two dozen from South America. But they're in cold storage while the government decides whether a Penguin is a wild bird or domesticated one. It's against the rules to import eggs of wild birds.

MARKETS

STOCK MARKET BUSINESS DULL

Turnover Less Than 300,000 Shares Today.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER,
Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The stock market vacillated idly in today's week-end session.

The best that could be said for it was that yesterday's selling flurry appeared to have dried up. Maintenance of a good undertone in bonds, and a better tone in wheat, were evidently helpful to shares, but there was scant inclination to resume the advance.

The list sagged a little at the start, rallied coincident with improvement in wheat, eased off again toward the close, but stiffened in the last few minutes, evidently under the influence of short covering. The close was steady, and save for a few isolated soft spots, net changes were negligible. The turnover was only about 300,000 shares, making it one of the dullest Saturday sessions in recent years.

GRAIN

Chicago.
By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Wheat prices established new all-time bottom records today, showing a fall of 14 cents a bushel inside of a month, more than 20 per cent loss.

Low levels reached here in the face of one of the shortest crops of domestic winter wheat the United States has ever had. Opponents of the farm board said that wheat would be selling at $1 a bushel were it not that the United States farm board surplus had discouraged foreign buying.

stration." Well dressed, efficient, polite, a fine salesman. You are tempted to acquire importance in their eyes by telling them:

"I was one of Mrs. Eddy's pallbearers."

But, while it is true, any suggestion of death is "unscientific."

RAMSAY MacDONALD, at Lausanne, lets it be known that "the United States has encouraged us to believe that it will co-operate." He does not say in what. The United States is expected to "cancel its share of the war debts."

If that doesn't happen, Europe will probably cancel them for us.

CRIME HERE writes its usual daily chapter. Gangsters raided Sam Hare's roadhouse called "The Dells." In a gun battle one man is killed, two others and a woman wounded, and a gambling annex in "The Dells," is revealed out in the country.

Three hundred customers were disturbed by the killing. The gangsters were attracted by a fifteen thousand dollar "bankroll."

MAKE YOUR preparations to attend the Chicago fair next spring and bring your children. The fair will be ready and its record of scientific achievement in the past hundred years will supply a valuable education.

The great courage and civic pride of Chicago's citizens to raise the money to finance the fair at this time, and the ablest men and women here devoting time and concentrated hard work to it, deserve recognition.

You should not fail to see it.

RIVERMEN TO HOLD OUTING

Lock Employes Will Play On River Steamer.

The annual outing of lockmasters, office workers and their wives at the 11 dams in the Pittsburgh district on the Ohio river was started Friday and will end next Wednesday, aboard the United States steamer George S. Nutt.

Approximately 150 members of the office force in the district boarded the Steamer Nutt which left Pittsburgh today and passed down the Ohio river to lock No. 11 at Brilliant. The return trip to Pittsburgh will end Sunday. On the up-river trip the party will disembark for a visit at each lock.

About 100 persons, including lockmasters and their wives will leave Sunday on another trip. An orchestra will be aboard the boat and other entertainment provided. A similar trip was made in June last year by the district federal river employes.

Boats locked through at Dam No. 8 Friday included the William Larimer Jones of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh, en route to Memphis and New Orleans with six barges of steel products; the J. D. Ayres, Mingo to Pittsburgh, with nine empty barges; the Edgar Thompson, Pittsburgh to Weirton, with five barges of coke and one barge of fine dust; the Cruiser, Pittsburgh to Weirton, with five barges of coal and two empty barges; and the A. HOOVER BACKS FURLOUGH PLAN

Payless Month for Federal Workers Will Mean Employment Increase President Argues.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 18. — A mildly phrased but forcefully argued plea from President Hoover for adoption of his furlough plan of reducing federal pay, faced congress today as it wrestled anew with this obstinate economy problem.

The chief executive put his case in a public statement, delivered verbally yesterday afternoon at his first newspaper conference since renomination.

He argued that the furlough plan —by which the average government worker would receive the equivalent of one month's payless layoff during the year—would record the government's willingness to cooperate in shortening the hours of labor; would keep basic pay rates unchanged; would avoid discharges and lead to a slight increase in employment; and, contrary to general congressional claims, would actually produce a larger saving than any flat pay cut likely to be adopted by congress. It will be the equivalent, he said, to a five-day week.

No political significance was attached to the shooting.

RESCUED FLIER PLANS TO TRY SEA HOP AGAIN

Stanislaus Hausner Hopes to Jump to Warsaw.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, June 18.—Stanislaus Hausner, Polish-born American flier who was rescued from the Atlantic a week ago today after failing to fly from New York to Warsaw, plans to try the flight again this year, he said in a message received from him today.

The message was sent from the freighter Circle Shell which picked him up out of the sea 500 miles off the coast of Portugal and which is taking him back to the United States.

Hausner asked if it were possible for the British government to send a training ship to salvage his plane which was abandoned at the spot where he was rescued. He said it would keep afloat for a week or more.

Hausner revealed that he flew 28 hours before he was forced down into the ocean.

"I was forced down at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, June 4," he said, "after 28 hours of flying. My greatest suffering is the loss of my plane.

"I hope to fly to Warsaw this year.

"I was not injured and have now recovered completely from my experiences during the week I was adrift on the ocean. I will send full details when I reach New Orleans."

6,736 SCHOOL CHILDREN HERE

Report Shows 790 Increase Over Last Year.

There are a total of 6,736 boys and girls between the school ages of 5 and 18 years in East Liverpool, according to the annual enumeration report submitted by Attendance Officer W. R. Morris to the board of education Friday night.

The 1932 school population is an increase of 790 over the 1931 enumeration, according to Superintendent H. G. Means. These figures include the 325 Catholic school pupils in the city. Morris' report shows 5,889 children between the ages of 5 and 15 years and 847 girls and boys of 16 and 17 years or a total of 3,375 boys and 3,361 girls in the city.

Superintendent Means said that according to the report approximately 900 children were illegally out of school during the last term, since the attendance in school on June 1 was 5,598. If the town was "over-counted" the mistake will be checked when school opens in September.

As an economy move, the janitors at all the buildings, except James Hassel at the high school, were laid off on June 15 "until further notice." The janitors will be re-employed about August 1 to afford time to clean the buildings. Pearl Smith was appointed janitor at the Lincoln building.

Miss Mildred Broomhall, who has been employed in the superintendent's office, was appointed secretary to High School Principal B. G. Ludwig to succeed Miss Alice Rodgers.

The high school band was given permission to accompany the 600 Boy Scouts of Columbiana county on the day's outing to Pittsburgh July 1. The school bus will be used to transport the instruments, while the musicians will be taken in automobiles.

FEW SPEECHES BY PRESIDENT IN CAMPAIGN

Hoover Cancels Trip To Olympic Games.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Hoover today announced formally he would "not take part in the forthcoming campaign" except for a few major addresses.

The chief executive also said he had abandoned hope of journeying to the west coast to open the Olympic games, an invitation he had accepted previously.

The entire campaign, Mr. Hoover said, will be conducted and managed by Everett Sanders, newly elected chairman of the Republican national committee.

The president's statement follows in full:

"I have informed Republican leaders that except for a few major addresses expounding policies of the administration, I will not take part in the forthcoming campaign as my undivided attention must be given to the duties of my office.

"It has been settled that the offices of the Republican national committee should be removed from Washington and established at Chicago and New York. Mr. Sanders will be visiting Washington in the course of a few days to complete these arrangements.

"In accordance with the tradition since their beginning that heads of states should open the Olympic games, I had hoped to avail myself of that pleasure and I had also hoped to spend a few weeks at my home at Stanford university, but at the moment this seems impossible as my paramount duty is here."

Save Chicago Teachers From Privation, Plea To Washington

Mayor Cermak and Illinois Congressmen Will Knock on Reconstruction Finance Corporation Door.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Mayor Anton Cermak and Illinois representatives in congress will knock on the doors of the Reconstruction Finance corporation next Tuesday with a plea to save Chicago teachers from privation.

A last appeal to borrow money from the corporation to purchase tax warrants of the city and county was made to the Loop bankers last night. The answer of the bankers, as given by Melvin A. Traylor, was "No!"

"You cannot borrow yourself out of the mess you are in," the internationally known financiers told the mayor and other officials and civic leaders. "You'll have to pay your way out with taxes."

A taxpayers' strike has left many millions in taxes unpaid and municipal leaders declared there was little hope of bettering the situation in time. They decided to journey to Washington and ask the R. F. C. heads to change the ruling of the corporation to permit borrowing by municipalities.

Twenty million dollars is due the teachers alone in back pay and a loan of $25,000,000 will be asked to pay other employes also.

The mayor's conference was called yesterday as a climax to an exciting day for the teachers Thousands of them paraded through Loop streets and staged a big demonstration on the lakefront in protest against non-payment of the salaries.

The clothes of many a marcher frayed and showing signs of hardships suffered through lack of cash and credit, they pushed through the dense Loop traffic straight to the mayor's office.

SHOUSE SEES REPEAL PLANK

Party Leader Raps Stand Taken by Republicans.

led the fight for repeal plank in the Republican national platform, will lead a movement to bring about repudiation by New England and middle Atlantic Republican state conventions of the plank finally adopted in Chicago.

If he succeeds, Dr. Butler said, President Hoover may have "a sporting chance" of re-election. If he fails, he predicted the Republican party will "go over the dam."

Adoption of the present plank by the Republican national convention in Chicago was described by Dr. Butler as "the most shocking exhibition of patronage control of a convention since 1872, when Ulysses S. Grant won his second convention."

"I was told", he said, "that six cabinet members were at the convention, that 37 of the 97 delegates from New York and upward of 400 of the convention's membership were office holders.

"This is repugnant to Republican traditions.

Dr. Butler said his plank, embodied in the Bingham minority report, would have won had the convention been "let alone".

"We had 610 assured votes on Monday night," he said. "Estimates that we could muster 700 votes were made. In any event, we had a majority, and then the administration leaders, taking orders from Washington, got busy.

"They knew we had them beaten; that the convention, if uninfluenced by the White House, would go for repeal.

"They made inroads in Pennsylvania and Ohio and some in Massachusetts.

"I saw an interesting analysis in a Cleveland newspaper, which showed that, eliminating the southern delegations, we had a majority. One of the most gratifying incidents was the fact he had five of the 13 votes from Maine, the pioneer prohibition state.

MOORE "DARK" HORSE.

Jersey Executive Boomed in Event Of Roosevelt-Smith Draw.

By The Associated Press.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 18.—The Jersey Journal said today that Mayor Frank Hague, vice-chairman of the Democratic national committee, is counting on Governor A. Harry Moore as a dark horse candidate for the presidential nomination in the event the Roosevelt-Smith contest leaves the field open.

While Moore is what might be classed as a one to five shot, the paper said, more than one New Jersey politician has been busy the past few days figuring out his possibilities.

Moore, although elected as one of the delegates at large to the Democratic national convention, will not go with the other delegates.

This is ascribed by some as a move on Hague's part to keep Moore from being embroiled in any of the convention complications and keep him for a last minute entrance should there develop a chance of uniting on Moore in the event of a deadlock, the Journal said.

FOUR RESPOND TO ALTAR CALL

Rev. E. H. Stillion Discusses "The Greatest Question" at Nazarene Church Revival.

"Men and women have sufficient knowledge of God as to determine right from wrong," affirmed Rev. E. H. Stillion, Oil City, Pa., evangelist, at the First Church of the Nazarene revival on St. Clair avenue Friday night.

"God has arranged that none will be left in the dark," he outlined to a large audience that heard him. Following the discourse four persons accepted the altar call. "The Searching Question" was the evangelist's theme.

It was announced that the evangelist will speak twice on Sunday. His morning theme will be "God's Advertisers" and in the evening, "Three Great Hours." A feature of tomorrow's service at the church will be the presence of a quartet of singers from the Eastern Nazarene college of Wollaston, Mass.

During the preliminary services Friday night a piano solo was given by Miss Gertrude Hulse and Edward Bennett and Leland Davis sang "I'll Answer Mother's Prayers Today."

"When men and women break with God they lose the peace with which they were once possessed," Rev. Stillion said. "Those leaving their former standard and ideals have substituted almost everything for religion.

"In the face of such tendencies on the part of many it is well to inquire whether we obey our conciences to determine right from wrong in our living."

WAR DEBTS TO BE CANCELLED

European Statesman Abandon Hope For United States Cancellation of Outstanding Loans.

By The Associated Press.

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, June 18.—In quarters close to the big powers associated in the conference on reparations and war debts, it was said today the European statesmen are preparing a final reparations settlement without an American guarantee of cancellation or revision of the war debts payments due the United States.

Any notion of a resolution proposing to ask the government at Washington to cancel the war debts apparently has been given up as likely to interfere with the presidential election in the United States.

LOMBARD - POWELL TEAM STILL GOING SMOOTHLY, REPORT

Hollywood Fortune-Teller Misses Guess On Romance.

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — A local fortune teller predicted, shortly after Carole Lombard married William Powell, that the romance would meet usual Hollywood rocks within three months.

CAROLE LOMBARD

At the end of three months the Lombard-Powell team was still going moothly and the seer changed his mind, but foresaw disaster ahead for the eighth month. When they'd been married nine, the prophecy again was changed, and the last Carole heard was that she and Bill were to part before their third year together. Now there's determination!

But when Carole feels the stargazing urge upon her, she turns to numerology — principally because she has a close friend who has been practicing it these many years, and Carole finds it interesting. But it wasn't numerology that changed her name from Carol to Carole — it was Carole in the first place, only people forgot to add the "e" until, gaining prominence, she insisted on it.

ROSE FROM RANKS

Miss Lombard, like Gloria Swanson before her, rose from the ranks of Sennett beauties where she began as Jane Peters, to a position as one of the smartest dressed women on the screen.

Her flair for smartness makes her a rival to Constance Bennett as a style-setter, and her studio isn't overlooking that. Her "No One Man" was a picture of the usual Bennett type. But the resemblance between Carole and Connie ends near there.

'GREAT DANE'

Nils Asther only recently discovered that he was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, rather than in Malmo, Spain, his home town. It happened when Nils applied for renewal of his permit to remain in America for pictures.

The immigration officer insisted Nils' birthplace was Copenhagen and had a document to prove it. Nils telephoned his mother — and Copenhagen was right! He was born en route to Sweden.

"Vivian," says Nils, "used to call me the big Swede." Now she'll have to call me 'Great Dane.'"

Current Playbills

CERAMIC

Following his outstanding success in the role of the young officer in "Mata Hari," Ramon Novarro comes to the screen in an entirely new characterization in "Huddle," opening Sunday at the Ceramic theater.

He portrays the role of Tony Amatto, mill hand in a large steel plant, who, wins a scholarship to Yale university. His efforts to adject himself to a strange social environment by the right of brawn and athletic achievement are a stirring basis for the story.

Sam Wood, famous for "So This Is College," and his recent filming of the entire U. S. C.-Notre Dame game, directed the production with one of the strongest supporting casts of the year.

Madge Evans, who scored a distinct hit as the feminine lead in "Lovers Courageous," plays opposite Novarro for the second time in her career. Her first appearance with him was in "Son of India," which started this popular young player on the way to success as a talking-picture leading woman.

Una Merkel, the girl with "that ole southern drawl," who made such a hit as the crying wife in "Private Lives," plays a Southern girl who stirs things up on the Yale campus.

As the fighting coach of the Varsity football team, Ralph Graves is given an opportunity at one of the virile type of roles that are his specialty.

Prominent roles are also filled by John Ariedge, Frank Albertson, Kane Richmond, Martha Sleeper, Henry Armetta, Ferike Boros, Rockcliffe Fetlows and Joe Sauers. The picture is an adaptation of the Francis Wallace story.

COLUMBIA

Since his first outstanding talkie role in "The Criminal Code" Boris Karloff has become one of the most important character actors in Hollywood. His portrayal of the hideous, terrifying monster in the recent thriller, "Frankenstein," was lauded as the most startling and successfull contribution in the field of "horror" characterizations.

He follows this with a sinister delineation in another film of the "shock" variety, "Behind the Mask," a Columbia picture coming to the Columbia theater Sunday and Monday. This picture is described as a thrilling mystery of a fiendish, dreaded figure, who practiced unbelievable cruelties on those who opposed him; he is responsible for a literal reign of terror. As soon as anyone attempts to interfere with his dope traffic operations, that person is destroyed in a horrible, inhuman manner.

In addition to Karloff, Jack Holt and Constance Cummings play leading roles. Holt depicts one of those strong, virile characterizations for which he is famous. The supporting cast includes Claude King, Bertha Mann, Willard Robertson and Edward Van Sloan. John Francis Dillon, who made "Pagan Lady," "The Noose" and "The Finger Pints," handled the direction.
